1	I feel like we start good conversations and then don't have time to finish them because of time constraints	5/16/2016 10:54 AM
2	This was excellent training. Gail and Kjell really knew their stuff and I respected them for that At times tho, I felt opportunities were cut short for being able to fully speak with table groups about the subject at hand. Sometimes I felt very micro managed for having to keep to the script when organically what we were capturing in our group was more authentic. I know it's a fine line but there were instances where I felt rather over directed.	5/13/2016 7:40 PM
3	Things that distracted me from learning: time given for each interaction with other participants was too short (we were stopped too soon), the presenters came across as condescending, if there was an effort to adapt the content or structure of the training between sessions to better meet participant needs it was not discernible, the power struggle between presenters for "lead" was obvious.	5/13/2016 3:43 PM
